

Ready for your dream job?

Colorado's Employment First program can help you get the career you always wanted!

What we do

Employment First staff can help you get a job if you receive Supplemental Nutritional Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits, also known as Food Assistance.

What's in it for you?

- Someone who will guide you in person or virtually in finding your dream job
- Assistance with transportation, work clothes and equipment, and training fees
- Access to work experiences and other job programs
- GED prep programs
- Interview skills and resume assistance
- English language learning programs
- Short-term and long-term technical education
- Volunteer opportunities
- Connections to community resources that can help you with child care, transportation, healthcare, and other needs that can help you keep your dream job

Visit bit.ly/colorado-employment for more information

Hey, students! Students attending higher education may be eligible for SNAP benefits by participating in the Employment First program.
